

The Fisherman and his Wife

Once upon a time there was fisherman who lived with wife sea shanty water fish One day fishing line pulled deep under when reeled flounder each amazement spoke sir swim away enchanted prince gladly said watched arrived home told should asked wish what nice cottage replied so returned called boon Isobill want promised better content try enough stone castle didn't really but just magnificent beautiful cried happy next decided king queen snapped unhappy already thought emperor go tried angry insist shouted satisfied think about could sleep because wake husband power sun moon nonsense God frightened trembled raging storm

